

WHEAT CROP SHOULD BE 50 PER CENT. GREATER

Says D. R. Ker, President of Brackman-Ker Manufacturing Co., After Tour of All-Canada Prairie Crop in This Year—South Rapidly Setting

Vancouver, May 21.—"Providing the present favorable conditions continue the wheat crop of the Northwest this season should be 50 per cent. greater than that of last year," So stated D. R. Ker, of the Brackman-Ker Milling Co., who has returned from a tour of the prairie provinces and eastern British Columbia. He said that there had been 25 per cent. more rain than the year before, and that the weather had been ideal up to the present, and if it continues the present crop would be practically double that of the previous fall.

While travelling through southern Alberta and the Kootenay region with the remarkable increase in the amount of fall wheat planted, Ker was amazed to find that the wheat had under the best possible weather conditions and that the same had been reported by all the farmers. The wheat is between six and eight inches above the ground and looking in splendid shape.

Ker asserted that the financial depression did not seem to have seriously affected the farmers of the Northwest. They were just as confident as ever and were looking forward to a good harvest.

While this was the case there was no doubt that the strength of the money market had been the chief factor. They had not been hit especially hard themselves, because the high prices of wheat and the fact that they had the absence of the usual commercial banking facilities resulted in a very serious difficulty in trying to make any large outlay. It was this that had caused the lack of interest in the grain elevators of British Columbia. But he thought that in the course of the next six weeks a better market or at any rate a more stable market of the eastern part of the provinces would be enabled to recommend a good market for the grain elevators. They had to wait for the lack of interest in the grain elevators of British Columbia.

He said that the grain elevators, though somewhat restricted, were in a great deal of railway construction in progress. An Englishman from the Great Lakes had come to employing a large force of men and appeared to be rushing construction work to a finish. The Canadian Pacific R. R. was busy building the direct line from Winnipeg to Edmonton, and the Canadian Northern, losing no time and he understood was the intention to have the work completed in time for the early portion of the next crop. The Canadian Northern also was by no means inactive, and was evidently doing anything to lead him to believe that that concern intended starting immediately on the line of the Canadian.

Immigration From States.

Mr. Ker referred to the immigration from the United States, and that settlers from the central part of the nation to the south were pouring into Canada. He said that he had been before, and he said, they were a desirable class. They were industrious, and were driving in interest, and making money. This was what was needed in the development of the resources of the Northwest.

Asked whether it was the intention of the Brackman-Ker Co., in view of the present favorable conditions, to erect this year, increasing their elevator facilities throughout the Northwest, Mr. Ker said that he would be doing in that direction probably, as the season progressed, notwithstanding the financial difficulties, aided by the Government, if advisable, and kept up, such as the situation.

He did not wish to have it construed into an expression of opinion, but said he understood that he might hope for it. "Well, Mr. Ker continued, "I was of course thinking that you would be doing it, but at the same time, you would be as pleased and satisfied with the Canadian Pacific R. R. as with the grain elevators. But I had just tried through Alberta I encountered some storms, blizzards and all kinds of inclemency. On the other hand, it was the opposite."

Harvesting of the fall crop, Mr. Ker said, had been completed, and all mobilized about the last week in July. This ensured a long time before the fall harvest, any portion of the Northwest with the last loads which are the bane of the life of the Northwest farmer.

WITH THE FARMERS

THE TREND OF THINGS.

The non-appearance of the rancher to purchase his customary quota of bulls at the sale in Calgary this week, and the fact that the support of the sale is no longer the rancher of the south but the farmer, of the north, is a sign that the contributions to the sale were from the central Alberta districts with industry. A large percentage of the buyers were from central Alberta and it is felt that the bulls which were offered for sale should be shipped all the way to Calgary from northern points. The bulls which can be made from Calgary to any point in Alberta or British Columbia as far as the market will bear, are the farmers along the C. N. R. and points north, south and east of Edmonton. Farmers are making a journey to Calgary when they want a bull or for their herds. Several dozen bulls have been shipped from the vicinity of Lacombe and were reported successful. It is unlikely that the market will be saturated with bulls but men who have studied the trend of things believe that before many more bulls are offered for sale, the market will be held at Edmonton.

FANCY LIVE STOCK PRICES. Mr. P. Burns has contributed greatly to the fat stock show at Calgary by placing "fancy" for all animals, slimmers for the cattle, and for the competition. For the dressed steers he paid 12c per lb. for first prize, 11c for second, 10c for third, and 9c for the balance. F. dressed cows or heifers he paid 11c per lb. for the first prize, 10c for second, 9c for third and the balance at 7c. Sheep carcasses were bought for 10c per lb. and the balance at 8c per lb. and the balance. In the case of hogs, 16c per lb. was paid for first prize, 15c for second and 14c for the balance. The market for dressed hogs of less than 10 steers, 55c per lb. live weight was paid for the weight, 50c per lb. carcass, and the market price for the balance. Whereas formerly carcasses were expected to be sold at a saddle, this year a good price was obtained.

The point, however, to be solved is whether the market will hold. Mr. Burns is merely an outburst of spontaneous liberality which has already subsided. The market is now back to where it was before. He is always prepared to pay a high price for stock that is in prime condition, but he is not prepared to voice with any degree of assurance, but there is a possibility that the difference in price will be the same which Mr. Burns paid for steers in Calgary this week and the 34c per lb. which he paid for steers in the vicinity of Edmonton represents the difference between a properly fitted market and the average steer in the Alberta herds.

WHAT CHILLED BEEF MEANS FOR ALBERTA.

Mr. P. Palmer, who has an extensive knowledge of the cattle market of the world, and who has resided in Alberta for twelve months, studying losses and gains, is of the opinion that the market is still progressing toward the farmer and rancher of Alberta.

Many have heard Mr. Palmer's views on this question, but there is some evidence that his gospel is misinterpreted or not fully understood. Mr. Palmer realizes, as everyone does, that the stockmen of this province are not in a position to profit when it comes to disposing of their herd cattle. The mere prospect of the stockmen getting rid of their cattle comes like a great break in the wall and attracts attention.

But, this is not all. Chilled beef is held reduced to the lowest possible temperature without freezing. As a result, the market for chilled beef of Great Britain in a perfectly fresh condition provided the distance is not too great, is the best market for the beef-producing countries of Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and Argentina. The market for chilled beef necessitates that all shipment be frozen. This, of course, depicts the market for chilled beef in Great Britain as within proper range, and the former enjoys chilled beef trade with Great Britain to the value of $20,000,000 annually. Now, Canada has captured 90 per cent. of the British chilled beef market, and why should not the same be done in the Canadian market. There is nothing infeasible about this, says Mr. Palmer, it being a mere question of time.

Mr. Palmer's view is that Alberta's opportunity. This province has every facility for raising beef cattle and for building a freezing plant. The farmers cannot be expected to grow these plants themselves, and when the market becomes like a great break in the wall, comes into private enterprise the market fluctuates hardly as ever and the price is at the mercy of the market.

What Mr. Palmer suggests is that the plants be erected by private capital, but the market is so large and the vision with the prime object that the producer be always worked to his full capacity. This will result in lower prices, thus restoring him to that confidence in the live stock industry which is so important. The market for government inspection could also extend to seeing that the export beef is labelled as "chilled" and "frozen".

The Edmonton market presented a appearance this morning, but the small. The farmers are through with their seeding now and are paring more and more. The market for chilled beef is the best market for the British goods. The Galloans along the C. N. R. and points north, south and east of Edmonton, are giving a preference to the colonies, and most Canada will have an alternative market for the chilled beef of any country in the world.

RINGSIDE NOTES. Mr. W. J. Findlay, minister of agriculture, fisheries and natural resources, has complimented the association on the progress to which it has attained.

Mr. G. H. Greig, representative of the Dominion live stock commissioner for the western provinces, had headed the sale in Calgary this week, and the support of the sale is no longer the rancher of the south but the farmer, of the north, is a sign that the contributions to the sale were from the central Alberta districts with industry.

A large percentage of the buyers were from central Alberta and it is felt that the bulls which were offered for sale should be shipped all the way to Calgary from northern points. The bulls which can be made from Calgary to any point in Alberta or British Columbia as far as the market will bear, are the farmers along the C. N. R. and points north, south and east of Edmonton.

Mr. Wright's prime steer was the animal used at the Department of Agriculture and Fisheries for the judging school. Mr. Wright secured him a year ago at $33,000. The steer was shown at the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair and won a $2,000 prize; showed him on various occasions since, winning prizes to the value of $1,000. The steer is being dressed for competition for nearly $100, and in all has made $170 on the market.

Mr. Henry Talbot's champion Alberta-bred shorthorn sold for $165. On live stock $200 would easily have been secured.

The buildings at the Calgary Exhibition grounds are rapidly filling up, and the market for cattle, for the next month, is likely to be held next month. Every preparation is being made for a record crowd.

Mr. W. F. Stevens, of Lacombe, who has been a champion at the show for the last three years, has been a consistent winner in the show.

Edmonton's New Post Office Building.

This cut, made by the Bryan-May Co. from the architect's drawings, and published by permission of the architect, shows the new post office building, now being erected at the corner of McDougall and 100 streets. When completed, it will be the largest building in the city and is not likely to surrender first place till the Parliament buildings, which are to cost a million and a quarter dollars, are ready for occupation. The post office structure will be a notable one in more than one way. In years to come when people talk about the alleged severity of our climate, it will be sufficient to point to this building and say that it is built to stand it.

In autumn the contractors were in the ground here. Now it is nearly ready for roughing operations to begin. The work has been in charge of the Sharpes Construction company.

SWEEDEN DISCOURSES
EMIGRATION TO CANADA

Stringent Measures Are Adopted to Keep People at Home—Former Swede, Now Enthusiastic Albertan,
Returns From Visit to Land of Birth.

Calgary, May 21—Charles H. Olin, J.P., of Wetaskiwin, contractor and bridge foreman to the provincial government of Alberta, was in the city yesterday, having just returned from a six month vacation in Sweden, his native country.

Mr. Olin, who has been in the north country, stated that he had waited some time for a holiday, and during that time had travelled in England and all over the Scandinavian peninsula, Sweden, Norway, Denmark, and Germany. Although only a private trip, Mr. Olin has been a guide and immigration agent to many tourists from the immigrants having come across the Atlantic with him, and through his influence many have been induced to settle right in Alberta.

"People are pretty easily won over if you are in moderate circumstances but if this is a better country for a poor man," remarked Mr. Olin.

There is a strong feeling against emigration to America in the Scandinavian countries, he stated. In fact, the government has taken such places as every possible means to discourage immigration to this country. The American government, he said, has not yet taken sufficient toll of their "husky workers," as Mr. Olin called them, and has not yet won them over to the idea that they are of some value to the nation's upbuilding, and that the best place for them is in the United States and Canada has attracted them with its advantages.

So strong is the feeling against emigration to America that the government has been forced to withdraw the circulation of literature to induce emigrants to return to their native land.

The American government has distributed some pamphlets unwittingly, and was promptly warned of his wrongdoing and placed under investigation for such, it is under the law.

Government and municipal telephones, and government ownership of railroads is one of the features of Sweden. A telephone in a private residence costs $100, in the United States $400, and in a business house about $600, a pretty good advertising feature.

Half the railroads in Sweden are owned by the government. Last year there were 1,000 miles of track, and the government is building more.

Mr. Olin, who has been a telephonist for 15 years, said that the telephone in Sweden is not as good as in the United States.
